The Commission is invited to review the plan and provide its comments thereon. The proposed biennial programme plan, modified as appropriate, will be submitted to the Committee for Programme and Coordination at its fifty-fourth session. Its recommendations thereon will be transmitted to the General Assembly at its sixty-ninth session, when it will consider the proposed strategic framework for the period 2016-2017.
Programme 14

Gender equality and empowerment of women

Overall orientation

14.1 The pursuit of gender equality, women’s rights and women’s empowerment is a pre-requisite and driver for human rights, development and peace. In this regard, the direction of the programme is provided by General Assembly resolution 64/289 establishing UN-Women as a composite entity. The proposed strategic framework for 2016-2017 is aligned with the strategic plan of UN-Women for 2014 to 2017 (UNW/2013/6), endorsed by the UN-Women Executive Board in September 2013.

14.2 Also in resolution 64/289, the General Assembly set out a framework for the work of the programme drawing on the Charter of the United Nations, the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, including its 12 critical areas of concern, the outcome of the twenty-third special session of the General Assembly and applicable United Nations instruments, standards and resolutions that support, address and contribute to gender equality and the empowerment and advancement of women. The Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women is the principal international human rights treaty relating to the practical realization of equality between women and men. The General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and the Commission on the Status of Women provide guidance for the normative support functions; the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and the Executive Board provide guidance for the operational activities. Intergovernmental resolutions and decisions set the women and peace and security agenda for UN Women and the United Nations system.

14.3 The overall orientation of the programme is to achieve substantive equality for women and girls. The programme contributes to the achievement of internationally agreed development goals in the area of gender equality and the empowerment of women, recognizing that gender equality is pivotal to the achievement of sustainable development in all its dimensions.

14.4 During 2016-2017, UN-Women will continue to focus in the following key areas: (a) increasing women’s leadership and participation in all areas that affect their lives, including in political and economic areas; (b) increasing women’s access to economic empowerment and opportunities, especially for those who are most excluded, particularly women living in poverty; (c) preventing and eliminating violence against women and girls and expanding access to survivor services; (d) increasing women’s leadership in peace, security and humanitarian response; (e) strengthening the responsiveness of plans and budgets in the area of gender equality at all levels; and (f) supporting the development of global norms, policies and standards on gender equality and women’s empowerment.

14.5 The programme will create strategic partnerships which will lead to more effective coordination, coherence and gender mainstreaming across the UN system. It will carry out its work in coordination with other UN entities in order to avoid duplication of work. It will provide overall leadership and will strengthen mechanisms such as thematic inter-agency bodies at the global, regional and national levels, and will continue to promote and enhance accountability for gender equality in the UN system, including by assisting UN entities with UN-SWAP implementation.
14.6 The programme of work of UN-Women is driven by the principle of universality. The achievement of gender equality, women's rights and women's empowerment is central to UN-Women's mandate and is addressed across all its priority areas of work.

14.7 The strategy for implementing the programme in the biennium 2016-2017 is centred on bringing together the normative support, coordination and operational support to ensure an even greater impact from United Nations support in these areas. The fulfilment of the overall orientation will result from expanding support provided to Member States, upon their request; strengthening coherence between the normative and operational work; and leading, coordinating and promoting the accountability of the UN system in its work on gender equality and the empowerment and advancement of women. Support for gender mainstreaming across the UN system is an integral part of the programme’s strategy.
